

World Energies and Trends; Looking Forward into 2024 and Beyond

Where is Humanity Headed?

There is a process of evolution that you and all who live on earth are going through, individually and together. This evolution has been 5,000 years in the making. We are moving from a patriarchal, masculine-centered system of the old Piscean Age into a balanced partnership system between the masculine and feminine energies in this new Aquarian Age. The Feminine energy, represented by women, is regaining its power, and the Masculine energy, represented by men, is becoming freed from the driven ego pressure to achieve in the world and is allowing itself to be loved. Together, masculine and feminine, men and women will generate harmony while exploring the new selves they are that are emerging.

This is the future I am seeing signs of, appearing everywhere. Even though some of them might not be considered positive, they indicate that people are looking at rigid social structures differently. There is a lot of exploration into gender identity, and what that means. Poisoned by petrochemicals and other industrial toxins, food, and drugs (including medications), men more estrogen, a female hormone, in their chemistry. Women are gaining more testosterone, a male hormone. This doesn't mean we will all become trans or anything, but we will be able to understand the other sex with more love and compassion, friendship, and cooperation and thus humans will find more inner balance between their inner masculine and feminine aspects.

Even though you may not read the energies this way, it's an example where I am looking at the signs of the future, and hopefully positive ones, even when the issue is highly charged and partisan. I don't fear getting it wrong, as my intention is to explore what's happening in the world from a third point of view, or, as I call it, the In-Between, the neither right nor left, good or bad. It enables me to feel free to imagine the future freely and build a bit of hope that the craziness we see has a purpose that will move humanity forward in some way.

This kind of perspective can be made while looking at other areas of life such as the economy and corporations, how war can wake people up to the political agendas of countries and empires with their attendant destruction, how illness can bring awareness of the rain of toxins in everyone's environment so that people and groups stand up to unregulated industry, how love and beauty can neutralize psychopaths, how the toxins in pharmaceutical products can trigger more interest in natural healing, how religious dominance and persecution can trigger a greater sense of spirituality and compassion with and for all. This is what can and will emerge in 2024 at greater levels than ever before. Hopefully, you will be able to see these positive potentials and awakenings, and sense where they will lead humanity.

Wrapping up 2023 and looking into 2024

The future I just presented is to hold the resonance of the Dream Future, and suggest that we are all in process on the way there. But what we are seeing right now on the planet is massive destruction and the obvious Dark Chaos of the destruction and it's tempting to feel dominated by it. So, hold onto your hats, because 2024 will be an intense year, accelerated destruction, but also extraordinary glimpses into the Golden Dream Future as well. Remember, this too shall pass.

Until January 1st, Mercury will be retrograde, which means that your internal reflection will prepare you well for what's ahead. But do not commit yourself to a plan of action, to a project, or initiate a project until January when Mercury goes forward once again. It's important to focus on your inner self, and on who you are. And here's why.

The “Full Moon” Energy of 2024

2024 is a year of massive change, including lots of action with higher energy and sizzle. It is 12 years since 2012, and thus is in between the two Sirian years of 2018 and 2030. (If you want to know more about the Sirian year of 2018 that started in the Sirius days of 2017 with an awesome eclipse, then go to <http://www.greaterselfprocess.com> and read up about it).

Every 12 years is a Sirius year. The count that I was aware of started with 1982. That has the energy of beginning, like a New Moon. The beginning of a Sirius Cycle of 12 years is a year of splitting realities. New realities are created, initiated, and flow like lava into the sea of possibility. The steam of new technology, spiritual and energetic breakthroughs, and new thought flows through the year and impacts human society in a big way. In the second year or third year of the cycle, you see the result of this massive reality shift. The next New Moon or initiation energy from Sirius comes in 2030, so the massive change and destruction we are in now will shift dramatically so that the new way will be physical present and accessible by all in 2032.

But 2024 is halfway through the 12 years. It is not a beginning, but a mid-point year that has the energy of culmination like a Full Moon. If you remember 2012, that was an intense year as well, where a lot of people thought it was a completion of the old and a beginning of the new. This year of 2024 will have that same kind of energy where the Sirius process of evolution in this cycle reaches its peak intensity. 2024 has a fulfillment energy.

On a personal level, 2024 could be a year in which projects you have been working on finally come into fruition. Maybe now you'll get to that book or screenplay writing project or start the business you've been wanting to start. Or maybe, the business you've been building patiently for years will finally take off, bringing you into greater prosperity and success.

Opportunities and possibilities abound, coming towards your probable future track like many threads, glowing with creative juice and offering options for changes. It will be easy to get overwhelmed and overloaded with stimuli – too much input could paralyze you. Distraction could sideline you. If you are a sensitive person, you may have to cut back on media watching!

From the Chaos into the Aquarian Age World

This full moon energy of 2024 can be intense globally as well. Overall, the top-down, dominating system in society – the last of the Capricornian stronghold - is beginning to crumble. This breakdown could accelerate and temporarily create a lot more political chaos and the Dark Chaos of letting go of the past meets the Light Chaos of the dreamers (us) imagining and crafting new futures. The overlap between the Dark and Light Chaos' can be confusing. That's why it's important to stay centered, grounded, and connected to your positive Future Self!

We are moving into a culture and society that is transforming into the Aquarian concept of Oneness and individuality blending together to create greater love and prosperity for more people. We are seeking balance, harmony, and peace. We are looking to negotiate and share rather than compete and fight to find our place in the world. While this process is clearly engaging us on the personal level, many of us will rise to the occasion and along with political activists will step forward to assist the transition in communities and nations.

More people will wake up to how they have been manipulated, controlled - how inconvenient truths censored, and will protest. There is already a rising up of protests and mobilization through alternative channels of media - people coming together in groups to change things, to imagine new ways that society can decentralize so that there is a more even playing field for all. If you feel called to participate on the metaphysical level, check out the October 2022 Galexis blog post. It's called "Future Crafting from the In-Between." <https://www.galexisspirit.com/galexis-video-blog/>

The economy will still suffer turbulence, but the powers that be on top, the bankers et al, are not going to let the dollar crash this year, and the stock market will continue to function as normal. It will appear that we have dodged a bullet and had a "soft landing" from the inflation-recession, but that will be true mostly for the upper classes.

A lot of revelations that the top dogs have been up to no good for the rest of us will emerge and reach mainstream consciousness. This will allow people on both the right and the left to actually start coming together to stop the takeover of their resources, money, time, and life options.

But don't invest your money based on this, since there will be some surprising twists and turns this year as well. Just as strong as the super trend of governments becoming more authoritarian, even fascist (where government is mainly led by corporate interests and not the public's), there will be a trend of people taking back their power and coming together to solve societal problems at a community level. More people will escape the large cities and/or start growing their own food. More creativity and ingenuity will flourish. This is part of the creation and building of the Dream Future Track for all of humanity.

Because this world is part of a grand experiment and because we are all witnessing the shifts and changes that are part of it, know that most everyone eventually will shift onto a Dream Future Track. It may not feel like it now, but keep watching the destruction and see the opening to a new way, a New World (and NOT a New World Order!)

Visionaries and futurists are saying that this year will see the barest beginning of more conflicts in smaller areas, not necessarily between nations, but between people in various states or regions rebelling against federal or overarching authority. It will pick up steam in 2025. And over the next few years, they are also seeing, as part of this dismantling of the top-down domination system, countries breaking up, or states possibly seceding, leading up to the next Great Shift Sirius Year of 2030.

Sometimes things have to get worse before they get better. You'll see this in 2024. The horrible conflicts and wars around the world, the ravages of disasters, and the rise of repressive or fascist style regimes in formerly democratic countries all are triggering a greater and deeper response in people. More people will die suddenly, children will be sicker from the toxins and stress around them, more environmental destruction from industry and extreme weather events will happen.

It won't manifest this coming year, but possibly starting in 2025 and for the next few years, there will come a tipping point where people will simply stop paying taxes. A rebellion is coming. Governments will be ripped apart. The next few years will see a lot more of the destruction, while those in power will try to convince us all to remain calm and stay where you are!

Yes, Stay Calm and Get on a more Beautiful Future Track

While it may appear that the world is on track to the Collective Nightmare Future, if you look for it, you'll see more and more positive signs for the future from the Dreamers, those of us who are living on the New World earth already in our personal lives.
